

Sandi Craig - Bio

Sandi is a member in good standing of both SAG and AFTRA.

She is currently studying with Kimberly Jentzen, winner of Backstage West's Acting Teacher of the Year Award, 2007, in her intermediate class. Her credits range from TV to film. Sandi performed in a speaking role in a SAG movie recently, and she has also worked as a stand-in on The West Wing.

With a vast background in Broadcasting, Sandi was a News Anchor for an ABC affiliate in the Midwest and a News Reporter for a CBS affiliate in Texas, before moving to Los Angeles two years ago. She has extensive experience using a TelePrompter and doing voice over work. She hosted a live noon show and live political debate during her tenure at ABC. Sandi's award-winning broadcasting career has given her a unique perspective along with experience rarely found in the industry.

At 5'-9" with blonde hair and green eyes, Sandi is a striking beauty with classic features. She is naturally comedic and commands attention when she enters a room. Sandi has an ability to perform in several dialects, making her a true commodity and a client worthy of representation. She also has a warm personality and is very professional and easy to work with.

During her broadcasting career Sandi had the opportunity to interview such notables as Christopher Reeve, Dick Cheney, President Bill Clinton, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Mike Johanns, U. S. Senators Ben Nelson and Chuck Hagel, Congressman Tom Osborne, White House Reporter Helen Thomas, and many others.

Sandi now pursues her new passions of acting, writing, and singing. When she is not pursuing her career passions, Sandi enjoys watching classic and contemporary movies, writing sitcoms and screenplays, playing tennis, traveling, reading, listening to her favorite music, and cruising in her 2002 Thunderbird Convertible.
